My plan for a beach vacation neatly collapsed when my boss told me to place an ad in more than a hundred newspapers. I didn't know how I could possibly call 100 papers, get their rates and make the buy - and still make my flight. And then I remembered Oklahoma Press Service. All I did was pick up the phone, tell the account executives what I needed and it was taken care of. OPS provided all the rates, news and additional information, reserved the space and made the buy. I made my flight and had a great time. My boss thinks I'm a genius and he's right. After all, I was the one who called Oklahoma Press.
