

OKLAHOMA PRESS ASSOCIATION CONTENT EXCHANGE

The "Content Exchange" area of the OPA website (www.OkPress.com) allows member newspapers to exchange content, view creative ads and promotions in the "Advertising Ideas" section, and find articles from groups such as Oklahoma Watch, SoonerPoll and more. To participate, fill out this form and return to OPA by mail or fax.

CONTENT SHARING AGREEMENT

1. Oklahoma Press Association members that agree to participate in OPA Content Exchange Program will share content with each other via a password-protected section on the OPA website.
2. Each participating newspaper grants permission to other participating newspapers to publish any content contained in OPA Content Exchange in the print version of their newspaper.
3. Participating newspapers agree to use the reporter's and photographer's byline and credit the originating newspaper when using content from the Content Exchange area of this website. Participating newspapers further agree that each newspaper is permitted to shorten content as necessary.
4. Each newspaper accepts the same liability for publishing content distributed through OPA Content Exchange as it would for content it creates. OPA Content Exchange is not a publisher of content, but a distributor.
5. If the originating newspaper publishes any statement or article to correct, clarify, apologize for, or retract any portion of any content on shared on the OPA Content Exchange, it should send the item to the OPA for posting on this site.

HOW TO SUBMIT MATERIAL FOR CONTENT SHARING SECTION

To submit an editorial, column or feature, email the submission with author byline and originating newspaper name to
